21st Century Avant-garde

Letter to Artists

Dear [Artist's Name],

We extend to you an exceptional invitation to join an artistic movement that seeks to redefine the foundations of contemporary visual creation: Chromatic Stereometrism. This movement is neither a social network nor a fleeting group on digital platforms; rather, it is an authentic, independent, and nonprofit current that unites visionary artists under the banner of a rigorous and innovative manifesto. Our intention is clear: to consolidate and strengthen the individual work of those creators who, like yourself, sense that 21st-century art deserves to transcend fragmentary trends and ephemeral expressions.

The Chromatic Stereometrism movement rejects the rigidity of affiliations, memberships, or financial contributions from artists. Our principles are based solely on intellectual and artistic resonance. Those who identify with the principles of our manifesto—or who wish to contribute new tenets to enrich it—will be recognized as members and, therefore, as "stereometrists". This is not about confining styles or abandoning personal expressions; this movement celebrates the uniqueness of each artist while consolidating a unified and coherent vision that enriches visual perception through color and geometry, interaction with new technologies, science, and mathematics.

The stereometrists, artists united to the movement, will benefit from a common platform of visibility and influence without compromising their creative autonomy. By joining, you will have the opportunity to be part of a movement that, without limiting your style, contributes to the prestige and relevance of a transcendent body of work. As a member, your perspective and ideas are fundamental to the evolution and strengthening of this proposal. Here, each artist plays an active role in constructing a visual legacy that has the potential to define an era.

Chromatic Stereometrism will maintain a digital presence at www.estereometrismo.art (currently under construction). This website will serve as a showcase and professional platform for every artist integrated into the movement. It will have a team of communicators to strengthen the presence of the movement's artists in press media and specialized dissemination channels that have social networks, publications, and virtual encyclopedias. In this era of hyperconnectivity, we will ensure that the legacy of the stereometrists reaches every corner where art, science, and aesthetics converge.

We eagerly await your response and the possibility of welcoming you as a Stereometrist.

With sincere admiration and respect:
